MHBA elects new board members

The Maryland Horse Breeders Association membership selected two new members and three incumbents to the Board of Directors, as announced at the annual general membership meeting at historic Belair Mansion in Bowie May 21.

Dictated by MHBA bylaws, the annual election fills five open seats on the board. Those elected this year will serve for the next three years. Lawrence "Larry" Murray and John W. Boniface Jr. join incumbents Donald H. Barr, Michael J. Harrison DVM and R. Larry Johnson. Murray was elected for the first time.

Longtime general manager of Glade Valley Farms in Walkersville (Frederick County), Murray has been the private trainer for Howard Bender and his late wife Sondra for more than 25 years.

Among the dozens of Bender homebreds born and raised at Glade Valley and trained by Murray are 11-time stakes winner and Maryland-bred champion La Reine's Terms, who stands at stud at the farm, and graded stakes winners Promenade Girl, London Lane, Foufa's Warrior and Green Darlin.

Murray has had a presence on the Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association board of directors since 2002, and among his goals is "to foster a sense of cooperation between the MHBA and MTHA to work for the greater good of the industry."

Boniface, an MHBA director from 1999 to 2001, is a licensed trainer and partner in the ownership of the family's Bonita Farm in Darlington (Harford County), where he grew up, has lived and worked his entire career. The Boniface family owns more than a dozen broodmares and has 20 horses of racing age, and stands two stallions at Bonita, including multiple graded stakes winner Etched, whose first foals are yearlings this year.

Boniface, a previous chairman of the MHBA Yearling Show committee, would like to "help make Maryland the leader in the Mid-Atlantic area again. It was once before, and I think it can be again."

The MHBA vice-president for the past two years, Barr has been a member of the board since 2009, noting "I am very proud of serving on the MHBA board, and of the accomplishments we have made," with a goal "to continue making improvements to the Maryland-bred program."

A resident of New Market (Frederick County), Barr has had a long career as a trainer at Maryland tracks, conditioning the likes of graded stakes winners Ravala, Who Wouldn't, Purple Passion, G. O'Keefe and Merengue. He also sits on the board of the Maryland Horsemen's Assistance Fund and is an MTHA member.

Harrison, a practicing equine veterinarian for more than 30 years, owns and operates Willowdale Farm in Butler (Baltimore County), which has been in his family since 1962.

A presidential appointee to the MHBA board of directors

Following the meeting at Belair Mansion in Bowie, attendees enjoyed a tour of the historic Belair Stable Museum, learning its history from Pam Williams (above, center).

in 2009 and 2010, he was first elected to the board in 2011 and is an MTHA member. Crediting the upswing in the racing and breeding industry in the state "to our legislators, the hard work of many, and an enlightened, proactive racing commission," Harrison's goals are to continue "to work with fellow board members and existing related organizations to revitalize public interest, support and involvement in Maryland racing and breeding."

First elected to the MHBA board in 2011, Johnson is set to start his second three-year term. The Virginia resident has had a long history of breeding horses in Maryland, and stands Street Magician and Despite the Odds at Heritage Stallions in Chesapeake City. A CPA and forensic accountant, Johnson is also on the board of directors of the MTHA and Maryland Million.

Of the five directors whose terms expired in 2014, Milton P. Higgins III and James T.

Anne Lutz (3)

Dresher Jr. were ineligible to stand for reelection because of having served six consecutive years as members of the MHBA Board. Those whose terms have not expired are Richard F. Blue Jr., Rebecca B.

Davis, John C. Davison, David DiPietro, Edwin W. Merryman, Suzanne Moscarelli, Tom Mullikin, Joseph P. Pons Jr., William S. Reightler Jr. and Robert B. White.

MARYLAND-BRED STAKES WINNERS

Delaunay gets back to winning ways in Grade 3 Aristides

Maggi Moss' 7-year-old gelding Delaunay took the lead on the far turn and widened the margin in the stretch to win the 26th running of the $112,900 Aristides Stakes-G3 at Churchill Downs by 3½ lengths over 2013 race winner Scatman.

It was Delaunay's ninth career stakes win, and 16th win overall, and pushed his lifetime earnings to $985,491. Delaunay's breeder, Robert Meyerhoff (Fitzhugh Farm), is represented by five Maryland-bred millionaires—Concern, Broad Brush, Richard's Kid, Include and Valley Crossing—all ranked among the top-10 state-bred earners of all-time.

Delaunay recorded his second stakes win of the year, but came into the Aristides off a subpar fifth while attempting a repeat in the Churchill Downs Stakes-G2 on Kentucky Derby day. He looked to rebound in the Aristides, and with Rosie Napravnik up, bettors made him the 7-10 favorite.

Trained by Tom Amoss, the son of Eclipse Award-winning sprinter Smoke Glacken covered 6 furlongs on a fast main track in 1:09.59.

The Old Woodward Farm

By Josh Pons

Four days after the 139th Preakness Stakes, the Maryland Horse Breeders Association hosted its annual general membership meeting. Founded in 1929, the MHBA is 85 years old. Its bylaws require such an open meeting, which has, on occasion, been a dully attended auditorium affair.

This year, however, the magnetic history of the Belair Mansion and Stable in Bowie—the “old Woodward farm”—attracted an overflow crowd of MHBA members. Heartened by progress among industry factions, the members listened appreciatively to guest speaker Senate President Mike Miller.

“It took a long time to get this business rolling again,” he stressed. “We all need to keep working together. And what better place than Belair to recall Maryland’s great history of breeding and racing.”

Sen. Miller holds in high regard the book Blooded Horses of Colonial Days, published by author Frances Barnum Culver in Baltimore in 1922. Belair Stud is well-chronicled in the book. Yet Belair’s fall from famous farm to Levittown development over a span of months in the 1950s illustrates the impermanence of even the grandest of farms.

Once a 3,600-acre estate, Belair was the cradle of horse breeding in America. The farm was owned by Colonial governor Samuel Ogle, who in 1747 imported the stallion Spark and the foundation mare Queen Mab from the Royal Stud in England. Belair ascended to the forefront of American Thoroughbred breeding.

Ogle died in 1752, when his son, heir, and future Maryland governor, Benjamin, was only 3 years old. So for a time thereafter, Belair was managed by Benjamin’s uncle, Colonel Benjamin Tasker Jr., famous for importing Selima, undefeated on the racecourse, incomparable as a broodmare, known as the Queen of the Turf in Colonial America.

The Civil War spelled the end of many a plantation. Without slave labor, Belair was unworkable. It foundered under the weight of its mortgage, endured a succession of indifferent owners, until 1898, when James T. Woodward, born in Gambrills, Md., but of late, president of Hanover Bank in New York City, acquired the neglected property. He immediately set about restoring it.

His nephew, William Woodward Sr., inherited Belair in 1910. He bought three mares for $100 each from the broodmare band developed by the late Gov. Oden Bowie. Woodward also bought a stallion named Capt. Hancock for $60. Outfitted with $360 in local Maryland bloodstock, Woodward launched an international racing and breeding dynasty from the tiny town of Bowie.

It was Woodward’s practice to ship his weanlings by train from Claiborne Farm in Kentucky to the sidings of the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot in Bowie, from where they famously paraded through town to the Belair Stable.

Gallant Fox, born at Claiborne and raised at Belair, learned to ship well. He won the 1930 Preakness Stakes on Friday, May 9, then the Kentucky Derby on Saturday, May 17, then the Belmont Stakes three weeks later. His first crop of foals, born in 1932, included Belair-raised Omaha, who in 1935 became the only Triple Crown winner sired by a Triple Crown winner.

Woodward died in September 1953. Among the Belair yearlings he left behind was the bay *Nasrullah colt Nashua. According to Pam Williams, manager of historic properties for Bowie, Nashua resided in a small red brick barn, a solitary structure still extant on the path from the mansion to the main redstone courtyard barn at Belair. Racing for Woodward’s son, William Jr., Nashua could not best Swaps in the Derby, but won the Preakness and Belmont. Two-thirds of the Triple Crown earned him 1955 Horse of the Year honors.

Under cloudy circumstances, the younger Woodward was shot and killed by his wife in October 1955. Nashua, the pride of Belair Stable, was sold to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II, of Spendthrift Farm in Kentucky, for $1,251,250, the highest price ever paid for a horse at auction, by public or by sealed bid.

Belair’s days were numbered: 2,226 acres so close to the nation’s capital lured speculators. The estate, the mansion, 22 residences, 20 barns, a five-acre pond, and 30 wells, were sold for $1,750,000 to William Levitt in 1957. Local preservationists prevented the demolition of the mansion, the main stable, and Nashua’s little barn. The main stable was protected on the National Register of Historic Places in 1973, followed by the mansion in 1977.

And so it came to pass, that on May 21, 2014, four score Marylanders stood on the historic Belair grounds and listened to history’s narrative. Gallant Fox and son Omaha had set forth from here to win the Triple Crown. On our minds was this year’s Derby and Preakness winner, a horse with deep Maryland roots in his pedigree, with just one more river to cross to secure racing’s rarest jewel: The Triple Crown.

Buy a brick to support new arena

After many years of trying to build a facility for area riding groups, the Baltimore County Indoor Agricultural Arena is set to be constructed at the Maryland Agricultural Resource Council's Ag Center in Cockeysville.

The arena will provide a covered space available year-round for farm, equine organizations, and the industries that serve them.

Baltimore County has announced the availability of $1 million for the arena, and has challenged the agriculture/horse industry to come up with an additional $500,000 from private sources to develop the arena as envisioned in the master plan.

To assist with fundraising, bricks are being sold. They are a great way to remember your farm, horse, a loved one and support this project. The bricks will be installed as part of the Farmer's Walk leading up to the arena. For more info, go to <http://www.marylandagriculture.org/buy-a-brick>.

Third Maryland Horse Forum set for August 7

A trio of nationally-known speakers, breakout sessions concerning industry issues, and the presentation of several awards are among the highlights of the 2014 Maryland Horse Forum Thursday, Aug. 7, at the Prince George's Equestrian Center in Upper Marlboro.

Co-sponsored by the Maryland Horse Industry Board and Maryland Horse Council, the forum has been held at five-year intervals since 2004 and brings together approximately 300 industry leaders from all segments of the equine community to discuss major industry issues.

The theme this year is "Celebrating Our Successes, Planning for the Future." Topics include marketing and promoting the industry; business and regulatory issues; land, greenways and going green; and managing the Maryland horse population.

Admission is free and open to all members of the Maryland equine community. Advance registration is required. To register and learn more, visit <http://mdhorseforum2014.eventbrite.com/>.

Celebrating Maryland's racing heritage

Preakness Week in Baltimore included a celebration of Maryland's Thoroughbred heritage at the Maryland Historical Society, which included an appearance by the famed Woodlawn Vase and a preview of Racing the Times, a film in the works from Rubicon Productions about Maryland's 400-year history with horses. The Historical Society hosted the event with Brown Advisory, the Maryland Jockey Club, Maryland Horse Breeders Association and Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association. Getting close to Preakness history were (from left) David Richardson (MTHA), Sen. Thomas V. "Mike" Miller, Josh Pons (MHBA) and Jay Griswold.
